

Don't Let Cybercriminals Trash Your Holiday Plans!

Cybercriminals love the holidays!

The signs of danger are the same whether cybercriminals contact you by phone, email, text message, or something else.

Remember the tips below to stay safe!

Does the message make strange, unusual, urgent, or emotional requests?

Always stop and think critically. If it sounds strange or too good to be true, it probably is.

Does the message contain links or attachments?

Only open links or attachments from trusted people.

Does the message ask for money or personal information?

Never give out money or personal information unless you can verify the legitimacy of the request.

Don't let an act of folly steal your holiday jolly!
Always stop, look, and think before taking an action!
